

CV Joints

"Click! Click! Click! Click! Click!" Is that what you hear as you turn the corner in your front wheel drive car? Well, it is likely that your CV, or Constant Velocity joints have passed their life expectancy. What is a CV joint? It is a joint in a car's driveline that enables the shaft to pivot without vibration. It supplies The life expectancy of CV Joints range from 40,000 miles to 60,000 miles. If you think that your CV joints may have outlived their usefulness, come on in to the specialists at of Jefferson.